

Hugo Obermaier Society

Hugo Obermaier Society

The society was founded in 1951 by Prof. Dr. Lothar F. Zotz as a non-commercial association. The society's task is to advance the interests of the Quaternary science with special focus on the research on Paleolithic man, his environment and cultures. At the moment the society consists of ca. 250 single members and institutions coming from many countries in Europe and from different fields such as prehistory, geology, geography, palaeontology, palaeobotany, palaeoclimatology, anthropology and ethnology.

For the following sessions Poster Presentations are available:

- HOS 2013
- HOS 2014
- HOS 2015
- HOS 2016

You can also find all Poster Presentations and Abstracts on the Hugo Obermaier Gesellschaft website.
