

El Castillo

General Information

Site Name: El Castillo

Synonym Name(s): Cueva del Castillo

Site Type: cave

More Info to Site Type:

Discovery Year: 1903

First Description: Alcalde del Río 1906

Chronological Abstract: The cave, together with a group of other caves, is situated inside the mountain Castillo. The sequence, with nearly thirty archaeological layers, is providing valuable information about the transition, or replacement, between the Neanderthal populations of the Mousterian period and the Homo sapiens sapiens of the Aurignacian and later Upper Palaeolithic periods (Sainz & Toca 2003).
